JUDGE LOWE ARDENT ADVOCATE FOR A SWIMMING POOL

Forcibly denouncing all opponents of the Swimming Pool bonds, Judge Lowe, of the local recorder's court, this morning in an interview stamped those who oppose the swimming pool from moral grounds as fanatics and those who attack it as a burdensome expense as ignorant.

"There is a class of people in Glendale," the judge pointed out, "who seem to find immorality in that the swimming pool will be open to both boys and girls. This is ridiculous. Did anyone ever hear of Brookside park in Pasadena being immoral? In just the same way the swimming pool in Glendale will operate as one of the most desirable places for young people of both sexes. There will be at all times a competent person in charge of the pool."

Perhaps the greatest opposition to voting swimming pool bonds, according to Judge Lowe, is offered by persons who see in such a project only heavy taxes. "Most of these persons," contends Judge Lowe, "are selfish. In many cases they have no children of their own and are unwilling to assist in bearing the slight expense of making other people's children happy.

"The person who thinks only of swimming pool bonds in the light of heavy taxes is totally ignorant of the matter," asserted the judge. "As a matter of fact for the first year the tax on each $1000 worth of Glendale property will amount to 22½ cents. This will decrease each succeeding year. It is absurd to think of this as a burdensome tax when every property owner in the city wastes in a week's time an equivalent amount to the tax they would pay."

It is possible that during the days immediately preceding election, Judge Lowe will speak in local theaters and other public places urging that the swimming pool bonds be carried.

WELCOME GUESTS FROM SALT LAKE

Mrs. William C. Mabry of 115 East Acacia is entertaining her mother, Mrs. A. H. Mayne, and sister, Miss Mary Mayne of Salt Lake City; also her sister Mrs. Clifta Spencer and her two daughters, Mary and Peggy, of Blackfoot, Idaho.

Miss Mayne is accompanied by Miss Harriet Wilson, also of Salt Lake City. The entire party came by auto and enjoyed the trip greatly. They plan spending the summer at Long Beach, visiting various points along the coast at intervals.

Sunday Morning in the Churches

All the pulpits of the cooperating churches will be filled with visiting clergymen and laymen on Sunday morning. The assignments have not been completed at the time of going to press, but will be announced at the service at the Tabernacle tonight. It is expected that every church will be filled to capacity, and if necessary, an overflow meeting will be held in the Tabernacle. Every one is urged to go to their own church, and take their guests with them; after the churches are filled, then there will be room at the Tabernacle.

JUDGE LOWE ELATED OVER PERFORMING A MARRIAGE CEREMONY

Judge Lowe of the local recorder's court feels a vast responsibility today and is unusually happy over events which transpired this morning. For the first time in more than four years, during which he has held office, the judge has been called upon to perform a marriage.

The couple united in matrimony were Percival D. Farber of Glendale, and Margaret H. Spillane of Los Angeles. Appearing as witnesses were Miss Spillane's sister, Jeanette Spillane and Herbert R. Taylor of Glendale.

The infrequency of marriages in the local recorder's court, says Judge Lowe, is due to the fact that most folks are not aware of the fact that he is authorized to perform the ceremony.

INTERNATIONALLY-FAMED MUSICIANS CHARM MUSICAL CIRCLES OF GLENDALE

Zoellner Quartet Composed of Brilliant Artists—Orpheus Club Is a Wonderful Group and Reflects Great Credit On Its Noted Director, James Dupuy—Auditorium Well Filled and Beautifully Decorated—Special Numbers Sung

The greatest musical event in the history of Glendale was attended last evening by the largest Glendale audience that ever turned out for a similar attraction, when approximately 2500 greeted the Zoellner quartet and the Orpheus club at the great pre-convention concert given under the auspices of the Glendale Christian Endeavor Convention committee, at the convention auditorium.

Still, one wondered why there were not 1000 more. Glendale is a city noted for its cultured, intelligent population; the artists were unsurpassed, as everyone knew beforehand; and the entrance fee was a most moderate price for any such attraction.

The committee, however, is well satisfied with the results, financial and artistic.

The selections of the Orpheus club, that wonderful aggregation of good voices, directed by James Dupuy, noted for his success in training men's voices, were well chosen; they were all numbers within the general public's capacity of appreciation, yet each was an artistic gem. The artistic ability of the club is shown by the fact that the great chorus is equally good in Burleigh's tender, dramatic "Mother o' Mine" and Protheroe's romantic "Castilla," as in its vivid interpretation of "Up, Sailor Boy" (Protheroé), Charles Farwell Edson's virile "The New Patriot," Bartlett's humorous "An Ichthyosaurian Monster," or their magnificent, dramatic closing number, Drontheim (King Olaf's Christmas) (Protheroe).

William Brandt, bass-baritone, gave a delightful interpretation of Avery's "Song of the Timber Trail," the song of the manly, red-blooded lumberman being peculiarly suited to his beautiful, deep baritone.

J. C. Dill's conception of "The Farewell of Hiawatha" would have delighted the heart of Longfellow, so perfectly did this noted baritone depict this beautiful tone-poem, to which Arthur Foote has given such a perfect musical setting.

"I'll Sing Thee Songs of Araby" (Woodruff), displayed to advantage the lovely lyric tenor of Charles Horn, who graciously responded to an encore; Norman Kelch, the basso profundo, brought down the house with his tragic tale of the death of the "Ichthyosaurian Monster," and the audience expressed its appreciation by insisting on an encore.

"A Plainsman's Song" (Bliss), sung by Messrs. Bieber, Brandt, Rankin, Dudley, Goldwater and Kelch and the chorus won spontaneous and prolonged applause.

The support of the chorus in the selections given by the soloists was as excellent as their ensemble number. All of their work is well balanced and their crescendos and diminuendos are a joy.

"Annie Laurie," sung with a humming accompaniment and without the piano, was a request number, and was beautifully given.

Raymond McFeeters, the pianist, is an accompanist of rare sympathy, whose proficiency adds much to the work of the club.

The opening number of the Zoellner quartet, the Adagio movement from Haydn's "Lark Quartet," satisfied those who had never heard them before that they had not been overpraised.

Each member of the quartet is an artist; having worked together so long, and being animated by the same ideals of their art, it is but natural that their ensemble work should possess the amity of sentiment that makes it perfect.

The dash and fire and vigor of attack in the "Indian War Dance" (Skilton), was greeted with a storm of applause to which they graciously responded with an encore.

Bragdon's "Humming Bird," which concluded their first group, was a dainty, thoroughly delightful bit of work.

Only poet-souls could give to their Tschaikowski number, the Andante Cantabile Opus 11, the interpretation the Zoellners gave; the bright, humorous Scherza (Glazounow), which followed it was also entrancingly beautiful and Thern's "Genius Loci" was so insistently applauded that the artists finally consented to come back just once more, to play "Molly On the Shore," an Irish reel by Percy Granger.

The Zoellner quartet has done much to spread among the people an appreciation of the best in music—so much have they done to make the world see the beauty that lies in string quartet music that even those of us with ordinary powers of hearing and seeing may fittingly echo Helen Keller's beautiful tribute to them:

"When you play to me, I see and hear and feel many things that I cannot easily put into words. I feel the sweep and surge and mighty pulse of life. Oh, you are masters of a wondrous art, subtle and superfine. When you play to me, immediately a miracle is wrought, sight is given the blind, and deaf ears hear sweet, strange sounds."

SECOND ALUMNI DANCE IS HELD

The members of the Alumni Association of the local high school came together again last evening at Pearl Keller's dance hall for the second Alumni Sport Dance this year. The public was invited and about 60 couples were present, although the Christian Endeavor Pre-convention Concert was also given last evening. The orchestra was gotten together by Mansford Barns, an alumnus, and was very good for everyone wanted to know the name of the unknown orchestra before the second dance. It was composed of Eddie Frazier, piano; Mansford Barns, saxaphone; Herb Lively, trombone; Perry Woften, drums. The orchestra took off their coats and allowed the men the same privilege. The toddle and twinkle played an important part throughout the evening and at 12 o'clock sharp the pleasure was ended by the playing of "Home Sweet Home."

It proved to be a very enjoyable evening for all and it is hoped that another will be given sometime in the near future. The committee in charge was: Don Packer, '14; Frank Balthis, '19; Mrs. Sidney M. Simon, '16; Russell Tummel, '19; Ernestine Lyons, '17; James McCluskey, '19, and Mansfield Barnes, '19.

MISS WAITE STARTS ON VACATION TRIP

Miss Ida Waite, principal of the Colorado Street School, left Glendale this morning in company with her brother-in-law, C. E. Affeld, his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hinck, for San Francisco, where they will visit relatives and friends. Miss Waite will be the guest of Miss Florence Keene, who formerly lived in Glendale, but who has been in San Francisco for the past two years. From the bay city the party may go on to Chicago. Miss Waite does not expect to return to Glendale until just before her school opens in September.

It is said that Josephine, the wife of Napoleon, once showed her shoemaker, some footwear which revealed holes after one day's wear. Examining them, he explained, "Ah, I see madam, you have walked in them!"

GLENDALE ELKS WILL LOOM LARGE IN GRAND LODGE

Local Lodge to Make Finest Showing in Specialties Except Los Angeles

BIG MARCHING CLUB

Drill Team, Bugler and Drum Corps, Band of 38 Pieces Also in Line

The exceedingly interesting program arranged for the great Elks' convention to be held in Los Angeles July 11 to 16, has been outlined with regard to some of the details that particularly concern Glendale, by Alfred Priest, exalted ruler of the local lodge, who says it is anticipated that between 50,000 and 75,000 visiting Elks will be present at the convention.

The Glendale lodge is to hold open house the entire week and committees in charge each day will attend to the entertainment of visitors with tours of the valley, refreshments, etc.

On Monday, which will be known as "Redondo Day," there will be many features and functions including a "Bathing Girls' Parade" in which the Glendale Elks' Drill team will act as escorts.

On Tuesday—Santa Monica Day—there will be more special functions suitable to a beach town.

Wednesday the Grand Lodge convention will hold a business session in Los Angeles.

Thursday there will be a big parade with all Elks' lodges participating. Information available indicates that many organizations such as Kansas City, St. Louis, Minneapolis and Portland, Ore., lodges, will have an especially large showing, the Minneapolis lodge having an hundred-piece band, a minstrel organization and a 50-strong glee club.

Friday will provide two parades, a floral pageant in the afternoon and an electric parade at night. The last named is declared to be the finest display ever put on in the way of electric floats. It has all been arranged by motion picture studios of Southern California.

Glendale's lodge will be represented in the Thursday parade by a drill team of 40, a bugler and drum corps of 12, a band of 38 pieces, and a marching club of members to the number of 700. Through the courtesy of the Universal Film company the lodge has also secured the largest elephant in its menagerie and this huge pachyderm will be tricked out in the Elks' colors, will bear a Glendale banner and carry the officers of the lodge. There will also be a group of 12 escorts in Oriental costume. "Hoot" Gibson, of Universal City, is to have a 12-piece skit of special features, and "Hosie" Steelman and his assistants will be in charge of a setting which will include an old '49 stage. Glendale expects to make the finest showing of any lodge, next to Los Angeles, in numbers and special features.

Mr. Chobe with the assistance of Ed Evans and many other members of the lodge is now working on the floral float and from the hints he has given it is certain the design of this entry will be appropriate to the order and very suggestive of Glendale.

Mr. Priest states that motor vehicles have been barred as parade entries.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR A. W. VAN LOON

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Van Loon were host and hostess Thursday evening at their pretty new and spacious home at 125 North Adams street at a very pleasant affair which was at once a housewarming and a celebration of the birthday of Mr. Van Loon. About 25 relativevs from Los Angeles, Huntington Park, Pasadena and San Diego were present as guests, and the host was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts.

REGISTRATION OF ALIENS TO BEGIN

The registration of male aliens between the ages of 21 and 60, which was begun during the world war, is being continued and D. B. Lyons, registrar of voters, has sent out notices announcing that the registration in this county will start June 30 and continue throughout July. This means all male residents of the ages named who have not taken out naturalization papers, and Mexicans will probably constitute the largest proportion of the list.

MRS. WILLIAM MABRY HOSTESS AT PARTY IN HONOR OF HER DAUGHTERS

Mrs. William C. Mabry entertained at a prettily appointed children's party on Friday afternoon in honor of the birthdays of her two little daughters, Janet Elizabeth and Betty.

Pink and white decorations were used. A basket of pink sweet peas centered each of the two long tables, each bearing a large white birthday cake with pink candles. Games on the lawn were enjoyed and an exciting fish pond finished the afternoon.

The little guests present were:

Mary and Peggy Spencer of Bleachfoot, Idaho; Margot Buxton of Chicago; Mayne, Claire and John Thompson of Bellflower, Calif.; and Catherine Ferry, Veda Chase, Rosalie Mudgett, Carol May Evans, Pauline Scovern, Louis Scovern, Catherine Wemyss, Bobbie Tholen, Peggy Weisenheimer, Stewart Weisenheimer, Betty Hunt, Mary Claire Morgan, Caroline Everington, Jimmie Everington, Madelon Duryea, Gertrude Sprenger, and Billy Cummings, all of Glendale.

MRS. D. S. PHILLIPS ENTERTAINS SISTER

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Phillips of 207 West Chestnut street are entertaining Mr. Phillips' sister, Mrs. John Matthews of Houston and Eagle Rock, Tex., who arrived in Glendale Thursday morning. Mrs. Matthews was in California about two and one-half years ago, at which time she and her mother, Mrs. L. C. Phillips of Buffalo, Tex., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Phillips for several weeks. This is purely a pleasure trip for Mrs. Mathews, the duration of which will be about ten weeks if business will permit her to remain that long from Texas, where she has large interests. The management of her large plantation has been left to her son, Herbert Matthews, during her absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips are planning many delightful and interesting trips to surrounding points of interest, some of which their guest enjoyed on her last visit and of whch she still has pleasant memories.

At first wall papers were treated like tapestry, that is to say they were stretched on a frame and hung up and were used as complete decorations in themselves.

SAM SEELIG STORE IS CROWDED WITH CUSTOMERS ALL DAY

With merchandise of each department on display in the most attractive manner the Sam Seelig company this morning formally opened for public inspection, what is probably Glendale's largest and most up-to-date market. The store occupies the entire floor space of the newly-constructed building at 131 and 133 North Brand boulevard and is the forty-ninth of a chain of similar public markets operated in Los Angeles and suburban cities under the management of the Sam Seelig company.

Active in the role of hosts, E. Dale, vice president of the Sam Seelig company, and G. E. Alexander, manager of the local store, have been busy since early morning welcoming patrons and visitors. An orchestra will continue to furnish music throughout the day.

Cool and sanitary in appearance, with spacious aisles, white enamel finish and electric fans, every effort has been exerted by the management to have the various departments of the store to appear the acme of perfection. General groceries will be sold at the north counter, running the entire length of the store, under the direction of the Sam Seelig company itself, at prices, comparable to those which have made markets under the same management in Los Angeles so popular.

Other departments of the store are leased to various concerns, among them the Ideal Meat company, which establishes its third store for the sale of choice meats, poultry and fish. The most modern of refrigerating systems has been installed by this company.

The bakery department of the store will be operated by Ahrens and Neilund, who have installed an up-to-date kitchen and oven within a screened enclosure through which customers may watch the bakers at work if they choose. A fresh line of baked goods will be turned out daily.

Occupying the front center section of the store is the lunch counter and soda fountain conducted by G. H. Smith, who will also have charge of a front counter from which tobacco and candy will be sold.

The delicatessen department managed by H. C. Wilcox and also equipped with a refrigerating system will have on sale choice lines of dairy products, prepared meats and other palatable foods.

GLENDALE ECHOES OF THE "MIRACLE MAN"

Idella Young of Los Angeles, Said To Have Been Cured of Paralysis of 11 Years' Standing, Brought to Glendale to Spread Good News of Her Recovery

Dr. Tinkler of East Broadway, this city, who practices what she calls "the Douglas method" of healing, called at the office of the Glendale Daily Press Friday afternoon, with a patient, Miss Idella Young of Julian street, Los Angeles, who, the doctor said, had been marvellously restored through the ministrations of the "Miracle Man" or "Brother Isaiah," now operating in Los Angeles.

As the doctor tells the story, this young woman, now 21 years of age, was paralyzed when nine years old, and has been desperately crippled ever since. Her arms and limbs were rigidly cramped, she was unable to lift a finger or move a member. The doctor, who has been attending her for some time, conceived the idea of seeking outside help. Last Saturday she took Idella to Lincoln park where the Miracle Man has been operating, remained there with her over night, and Sunday at 2 p. m., she declares, the girl was healed. Her limbs relaxed and to all appearances she was completely restored. Ever since that time she has been gaining strength and is now able to walk short distances.

Another "doctor" of the same school of healing from Pasadena was a witness of the cure and yesterday afternoon accompanied Idella, her mother, and Dr. Tinkler on the automobile trip to this city.

Idella is her own best advocate. Her shrunken arms and limbs, testify to their non-use, and her face has the spiritual beauty of a great peace, the refinement that is the unmistakable product of long suffering patiently borne. However it had come about, whether by miracle or by natural laws accidentally put into operation, it was a pleasure to greet her and congratulate her on her wonderful recovery, and no one with a particle of compassion could have the heart to discredit the great gift that has come to her. She is said to be one of seven children and her mother a widow in humble circumstances.

Dr. Tinkler says the Miracle Man heals by the use of a handkerchief, not because that medium has any efficacy in itself, but because it is a point of concentration for the faith of the patient.

"Rick," the taxi and popcorn man, of 114 South Brand, tells of a visit to the scene last night, where he found ambulances parked in such numbers as to suggest a terrible disaster. From afar he saw the procession of the healer walking away from the scene of ministration, but had no opportunity to get the stories of any of the cases, except the hearsay talk of the crowd around him.

STATE INVESTIGATIONS SHOW ENORMOUS PROFITS

Milk Distributors Are Making, It Is Said, Over One Hundred Per Cent Profit on Their Investment—$300,000 Was Wantonly Wasted Last Year

No milk consumer in this vicinity can read the report submitted by Deputy State Market Commissioner Jas. P. Britt and have a shadow of a doubt that he has been and is being, robbed by the milk trust.

The report shows conclusively that the milk combine has held the price of milk so high that they have received profits which seem almost unbelievable.

So staggering are the facts brought out by the state investigators that State Market Director H. S. Maddox and H. G. Hecke, director of the state department of agriculture, came down to Los Angeles to look into the matter personally.

Upon thorough investigation these two officials found that the report prepared by Deputy State Market Director Britt was a conservative one.

Briefly, some of the outrageous features of the high handed performance of the milk profiteers who have set the price for Glendale as well as Los Angeles are these:

It costs no more to produce milk for Los Angeles and vicinity than it does for any other part of the state.

The independent small producers are not given a fair show; in fact, some of them have been put out of business.

One distributing firm capitalized at $50,000 is making a yearly profit of $213,652.75.

One man with an initial investment of $35,000 in one of the distributing companies, draws a salary of $1000 a month, rendering no essential service to earn it, and besides, pockets profits on his investment to the amount of $25,875.95, making his total yearly incime $37,875.95, which is $2875.95 a year more than his original investment or a profit of more than 100 per cent.

Last year about $300,000 was wasted in the wantonly wasteful way of handling milk bottles. Slight attempt or no attempt was made to collect them—why trouble to collect them when the easy going public would stand for having the cost of new ones added to their milk bills?

And at the same time, these shameless profiteers were solemnly advertising that "milk is an essential food. Drink more milk; 38 per cent of the children of Los Angeles are stunted for lack of milk."

Truly it is to laugh—or it would be, were it not to rage!

CHAPTER A. H. HOSTESS TO P. E. O.

One reads in every paper these days of "Records Broken," and A. H. of the P. E. O. sisterhood in Glendale has added to this list, making a new record for hospitality and as entertainers.

Wednesday, June 22, at the home of Mrs. David Black, 1450 Kenneth road, Chapter A. H. was hostess to Chapters U., Burbank, B. A. and C. J. of Glendale. To round out a perfect assemblage, several state officers were also guests—Mrs. Lola P. Bennett of Orange, state president; Mrs. Ollie P. Cramer, state organizer, and Past Presidents Mrs. Ella Brown and Mrs. Marion Garvin, all of Los Angeles.

No place in all the world lends itself to such settings at California, and when the picture is from beautiful Kenneth road, the center being the Black home and grounds, with the wide verandah overlooking fair San Fernando valley, the panorama is one to live always in memory.

Tables to seat the 100 sister P. E. O.'s were placed in living and dining-rooms, and on the comfortable verandah, so that each guest as she looked about, was greeted with some part of this picture from any angle.

Not because nature was insufficient at this time and place, but to bring out and emphasize this beauty, bouquets and garlands of roses were in evidence everywhere in P. E. O. colors—on the tables already attractive with snowy linen, cut glass and shining silver—on mantels, in windows, even suspended from ceilings in baskets.

At 1 o'clock a dainty two-course luncheon, prepared and served by members of the hostess chapter was the first feature of this delightful day, after which a program of unusual merit and attractiveness was announced by Mrs. Lillian Smith, consisting of a group of songs by Mrs. Maude Fenton Bollman of Los Angeles, piano and harp numbers by Miss Margery Jean Bailey, dances by little Divinia Woods and Miss Margaret Brown, and readings by Miss Doris Packer.

Mrs. Bollman, who is the favorite soloist in Pasadena's First Presbyterian church, is a cousin of Mrs. David Black, and all hope to hear her again soon.

Her songs were happily selected for the occasion, and showed off the range and quality of her voice, which told why she is a favorite in musical circles of Los Angeles and Pasadena.

Mrs. Bollman was accompanied by Miss Margery Jean Bailey, a new acquisition to Glendale's musical colony, and who is, by-the-way, a niece of G. O. Lockwood. Miss Bailey besides pleasing her listeners with her piano numbers, charmed all with her skill at the harp, performing two difficult numbers on this unusual instrument with skill and finish.

Little Divinia Wood was adorable in the Sailor's Hornpipe, and The Irishman's Dancee. Miss Margaret Brown, always a favorite, needs no introduction, particularly among P. E. O.'s, won new laurels for herself in her Gypsy Dance.

And Miss Dorris Packer, also well known to all, and also a prime favorite, delighted the guests with two splendidly interpreted readings.

There are many charming homes in Glendale that seem to exhale hospitality from every nook and corner, and the home of Mrs. David Black, mother of A. H.'s efficient president, Mrs. Claire Van Etten, is especially rich in this quality. Add to this a company of kindred spirits, and it is easy to understand why the shadows began to grow long, before the guests separated, declaring this a Red Letter Day in P. E. O., and Chapter A. H. an ideal hostess.

Weddings

Anderson—Toenjes

The marriage of Miss Vera Leona Anderson to Walter O. Toenjes came as a pleasant surprise to the many friends of the bride and groom. The wedding ceremony was solemnized by Dr. H. C. Funk at the Lutheran parsonage at 4 p. m., June 24. The bridal couple were attended by Ray Moore of Glendale and Miss Emma Webb of Sawtelle.

Hamilton—Johnson

Lloyd Alexander Johnson of Ceres, California, and Miss Mary Gertrude Hamilton of Pennsylvania were joined in wedlock at the parish house of the Lutheran church yesterday, Rev. H. C. Funk officiating.

PUPILS OF KELLER SCHOOL TO GIVE VAUDEVILLE SHOW

This year the Pearl Keller school has featured the Marion Morgan work in Grecian dancing which has found such favor with those who are seeking artistic expression along this line.

Mrs. Keller has the happy faculty of not only attracting new pupils, but of holding in the bonds of affection and loyalty all her old ones and so the girls and boys who are such favorites with Glendale audiences and whose development has been watched since they were little folks, will be seen on the stage at her studio next Wednesday evening at her seventh annual Children's Society vaudeville. In new dances and beautiful new costumes, especially designed for the occasion, such well known representative pupils as Dorothy Dutton, Marie Hearnshaw, Shirley and Glen Hitchcock, Vivian Nay, Merna Kahler, the Turner children, Cecilia Mae Fischer, Julia Pelley, Margaret Hunt, Gould Moore, Howard and Ethelwyne Kent, Evelyn and Leone Hunt and others will delight lovers of beautiful dancing. Besides these there will be many new stars who are now doing solo numbers and showing great talent.

As before there will be plenty of variety. The programs Wednesday and Thursday nights will be entirely different, but both will include fine examples of toe dancing, character dances, song and dance numbers, recitations. Fine ensemble numbers will feature both programs including a gypsy ballet and another wonderful ballet interpreting a storm scene in William Tell which will be the concluding act.

Mrs. Keller has been fortunate in arranging for rarely fine music to be furnished by two pianos over which Mrs. J. A. Wright and Miss Gertrude Champlain will preside, and these will be accompanied by a violinist.

As a spectacle this vaudeville promises to surpass anything the studio has ever before put on, and to distance anything of its sort that has ever been seen in Glendale.

BUTTON, BUTTON, WHO'S GOT BUTTON?

A lively game of "Button, Button, Who's Got the Button," was played recently by members of the board of city trustees. Mr. Lapham called attention to Broadway and Central as a corner very dangerous to traffic and where a traffic button was urgently needed. The board promptly voted instructions to the city manager to have one placed there, and then Trustee Henry jumped into the ring with a demand for a button at Glendale and Acacia, which was also granted.

Sunday Movies Coming Back

(By International News Service)

TIFFIN, Ohio, June 25.—Sunday movies are coming back here after two months of blue Sundays. But only educational pictures will be permitted, under a ruling of Prosecuting Attorney Lott, who launched a crusade against Sunday movies last February. The county prosecutor held that movies which are reproductions of dramatic, or theatrical, performances are illegal. Cartoon comedies and animal, or nature, studies are permissible.

BOARD OF PEACE

News which warms the hearts of all the members of "Glendale's Own company, California National Guard, and which should make every Glendalian swell with pride, has just come over the wire. It explains itself and reads as follows:

Oakland, Calif, June 24, 1921.

Captain Thomas D. Watson,
Care of Glendale Press, Glendale, Calif.:

Scores not all compiled, but Miller and Jackson sure of place, first five or better. Rest of men shooting well. Will telegraph finals Sunday night.

Sergeant W. R. JACKSON.

This success makes reasonably certain the representation of the Glendale company in the national rifle match to be held on the Camp Perry, O., range some time in September.

The excellent marksmanship of Sergeant W. R. Jackson and Private Anthony L. Miller is no secret, and the record they have made is no surprise to those who know what they have done in the past. The message to come Sunday night will be awaited with the greatest interest, as all the men who went north from here to participate in the rifle meet at Leona Heights, Oakland, set for June 24 to 26, are fine shots. The other members of the team are Willard Downs, Earl R. Smith and John R. Miedema. The local company gave the men a great send-off when they left to shoot for the honor of the Glendale organization.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Gertrude Tisdale of West Acacia.

JESSE JOSEPHS LEASE THEIR HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Joseph report that their beautiful home at Orange and Lexington has just been leased for a year at a handsome consideration to D. J. Hanna of Monrovia, who came to California from an Eastern state. The Josephs are to give possession the first of August. Because of ill health and by the doctor's advice, Mr. Joseph has closed out the business he has been conducting as the Glendale Homes Company and, after leaving Glendale, he and Mrs. Joseph will spend a year in travel, going first to Eastern Canada. The winter they will probably spend in Honolulu and eventually will go to Europe.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR UNION FOUNDED FORTY YEARS AGO

Society Was Founded in 1881 by Rev. Francis E. Clark, a Congregational Minister of Williston, Maine—Has Had Wonderful Growth in Membership

ACTIVE MEMBER'S PLEDGE

Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ, I promise Him that I will strive to do whatever He would have me do. I will make it the rule of my life to pray and read the Bible, to support the work and worship of my Church, and to take part in the meetings and other activities of this society. I will seek to bring others to Christ, to give as I can for the spread of the Kingdom, to advance my country's welfare, and promote the Christian brotherhood of man. These things I will do unless hindered by conscientious reasons, and in them all I will seek the Saviour's guidance.

The Christian Endeavor Union is just 40 years old; and its growth has been the most phenomenal of any known in the history of religious movements.

This society was formed in 1881 by Rev. Francis Clark, Congregational minister of Williston, a small village in Maine, with 21 members. Today the Christian Endeavor has a membership of over 4,000,000, and 18 denominations are represented in the union and it has spread all over the civilized world. The first seven of these, given in the order of their numerical strength, are: Presbyterian, Christian, Congregational, Baptist, Brethren, United Presbyterian and Friends.

Before the founding of this society there was no organization in which the young people of the various denominations might work together in religious and social activities. Dr. Clark, its founder, organized it with the idea of promoting Christian fellowship, social life, charity and good will.

First California Society

Oakland has the distinction of being the birthplace of the first California Union, which was formed in 1887, and which now has a membership of over 42,000, in 1500 Young People's, Intermediate and Junior societies, representing 18 denominations.

The California Union leads the world in the number of Quiet Hour comrades, Tenth Legion members and Intermediate societies. It is an organization state-wide in its scope, and commissioned to seek out, train and inspire the young people of the state. All of its officers serve without pay, with the exception of the two field secretaries.

Prominent Citizens Members

Many of the foremost citizens of the Golden state have interested themselves in the Christian Endeavor Union, recognizing in it a tremendously valuable influence in the moral, social and economic affairs of the country.

Among the well-known men of the Southland who have manifested an interest in the organization are Judge Curtis D. Wilbur of Los Angeles, member of the state supreme court; Peter Clark McFarlane, Los Angeles, an author of more than nation-wide fame; Giles Kellogg, also of Los Angeles, secretary of the Union Oil company, who has served as state president of the California Christian Endeavor; Howard L. Brown of Glendale, also a former state president.

Will Glendale Beat It?

The largest registration at any convention was that of 1919, held at Long Beach, when 5185 delegates registered. The next largest was 3401, when the convention was at Riverside four years ago, when Glendale's own Howard L. Brown was state president. As he is this year chairman of the Glendale convention committee, it is expected that his energetic, resourceful enthusiastic plans will bring the registration up to a number that will beat Riverside's and perhaps even the one at Long Beach.

California Beats Ohio

Some time ago the Ohio State Christian Endeavor challenged the California Union to an attendance contest. The Ohio annual convention was held last week. The California Union beat them by a good many—how many is not yet known; the pre-registrations alone showed California's preponderance of attendance, and no doubt others will come who did not register before coming.

William A. McCormick, representing the Southern Pacific and Pacific Electric lines, is here and there and everywhere, seeing that all arrangements for transportation are perfect. He says that a three-car train on the Pacific Electric will leave San Fernando road and Brand boulevard at 6:30 in the morning, to convey delegates to the north end of the line for the hilltop meeting. The regular stops will be made to take on passengers. Those who miss the special car can take the regular car at 6:45.

JAP PRESS WARNS OF COMMERCE DANGERS

(By International News Service)

TOKIO, June 25.—Danger to Japanese trade expansion through the efforts of American merchants in the direction of China and the South Seas is sounded in an editorial appearing recently in the Tokio Hochi Shimbun. According to the Hochi the trade between China and America has made steady progress since the end of the war, and the realization of possibilities in the China trade has made American merchants take strenuous steps to improve trade in this direction, as well as with the South Seas. The statistics given by the Hochi show the American exports to China as valued at $145,000,000 and the imports into America from China at $192,000,000, showing increases of $40,000,000 in American exports and $38,300,000 in Chinese exports, as compared with 1919.

The note of warning to Japanese merchants is further emphasized by statistics from the Japanese trade centers, which show that Japan's exports to China, totalling 410,000,000 yen, show a decrease of 37,000,000 yen, as compared with 1919, while the imports from China, totalling 218,000,000 yen, show a decrease of 102,000,000 yen.

There are three Chinese delegates present, nice, quiet-looking young men. They are Stephen Ging, member of the Golden Gate Christian Endeavor society of the Chinese Presbyterian church in San Francisco; Philip Chan of the Cumberland Presbyterian society, same city, and John Yang member of a society in Sparks, Nev. Another Chinese delegate, Miss May Wang of Occidental home for Chinese girls in San Francisco, will be here

ACCOMPLISHES HUGE TASK OF HOUSING LARGE NUMBER OF VISITORS

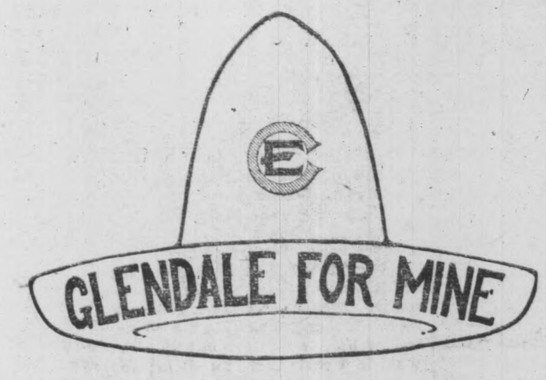
The face of Ethel Preston, chairman of the entertainment committee, one of whose duties it is to find lodging for the Christian Endeavor hosts due to pour into Glendale tomorrow, has resumed its wonted, womanly sweetness of expression.

Had Miss Preston had time to glance at herself in her mirror this week (which she hasn't, of course), and if she had, she wouldn't have seen herself, for all her mind is occupied with beds; if she had had room for any such frivolity she would have been met with an expression such as the soldiers of Marshal Foch must have worn when they kept repeating "Ill ne passeront pas."

And as the soldiers who kept repeating "They shall not pass," by their very determination attained their end, even so did Miss Preston by her invincible purpose accomplish the gigantic task of finding lodging for every coming guest.

Even the unexpected guest is provided for; Miss Preston and her committee have made arrangements to house any overflow from Glendale in Burbank and Eagle Rock homes.

Wherefore, this stupendous task being accomplished, the fixity of purpose which is a characteristic of the chairman of the Glendale Christian Endeavor committee, is again but softly indicated in her countenance.



Busiest Place of All

The busiest place in all the Southland this morning was the corner of Harvard and Orange streets in beautiful Glendale. On the south side of Harvard, the big tabernacle to seat 4000 people is a very beehive of industry, with state, county and city officers, beautiful girls and fine looking young men darting here and there, putting finishing touches to the interior arrangements, booths and other necessary adjuncts. When the big convention opens this evening all will be ready for the grand start.

Across the street looms the big tent, where the registration booths, headquarters for pages and guides, and refreshment stands are very much in evidence. Its a busy, busy place, where order is quickly brought out of chaos and where everybody finds something to do. Glendale has tackled a mighty big job, but her loyal workers are proving equal to every emergency.

OFFICERS IN ATTENDANCE

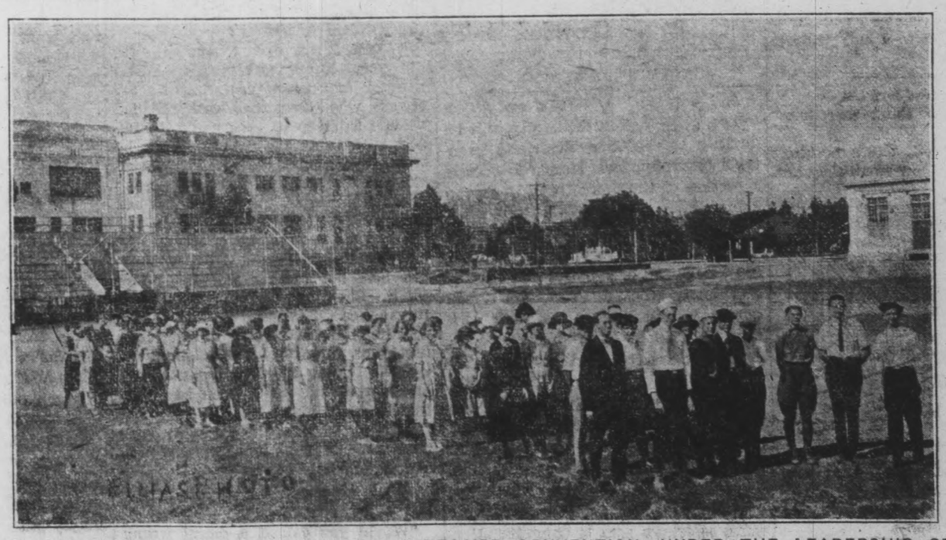
This thirty-fourth annual convention of the California Christian Endeavor Union will be honored by the presence of most of its State officers. Most of them, indeed, are already on the ground.

The roster of State leaders in the work follows:

B. Irvin, Valentine, President, Los Angeles; Reese Martin, General Secretary, Berkeley; Dr. Harry E. Straub, Treasurer, Los Angeles; Paul C. Brown, Field Secretary, Los Angeles; Harry C. Allan, Associate Field Secretary, San Francisco; Rev. J. R. Pratt, Counselor, Pasadena; Carl A. Bundy, First Vice President, Hollywood; Wilbur Raisner, Second Vice President, Calistoga; Willard J. Robinson, Third Vice President, Lodi; W. N. Jenkins, World's Union Vice President, Oakland; Miss Lulu M. Minter, Corresponding Secretary, Santa Ana; Miss Tillie Genter, Assistant Corresponding Secretary, La Jolla; Miss Margaret Gatter, Office Secretary, Los Angeles; Arnold Anderson, Transportation Manager, Oakland; Roy Martindale, Assistant Transportation Manager, Los Angeles; Ben J. Small, Alumni Superintendent, Oakland.

Between 75 and 100 delegates will be here from Fresno, most of them coming in autos. Many others of the Central California delegates are using the same means of transportation.

Checked silk ginghams in combination with solid colors are new in street frocks.



PAGES AND GUIDES FOR THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR CONVENTION, UNDER THE LEADERSHIP OF FRED HOFFMAN

LOCAL RECEPTION COMMITTEE BUSY

"Watchful Waiting" was the order of the day for the Glendale reception committee appointed to meet Christian Endeavor delegates from the San Francisco bay district and Northern California in general, whose train was due at 9:45 this morning.

But this only gave the Glendale young people a chance to practice the cardinal virtue of patience, without which, a Chinese proverb tells us, no one can get to heaven.

The train did condescend to make up 15 minutes of the time, however, and pulled in at 10:30 with the 200 expected guests.

As they poured out of the cars, efficient guides took charge of them and piloted them to the long line of automobiles (50 of them) which were waiting to convey them to convention headquarters.

Everybody was happy, though a little tired; the sombrero was the prevailing style of headgear—some of straw and some of other materials—and everybody displayed prominently the purple and gold.

The long procession of autos took its way on Eulalia avenue to San Fernando road, south to Brand boulevard, up the boulevard to Harvard street, and then to convention headquarters, where the guests registered and were then assigned to their various places of entertainment, where they will rest until this afternoon or even this evening, if they so desire.

Among the prominent guests of the convention who arrived on the special train were Arnold Anderson, of Oakland, transportation manager; Reese Martin, of Berkeley, general secretary; Andrew R. Schottky, of Merced, citizenship chairman; Willard Robinson, of Lodi, third vice-president.

Glendale owes a debt of gratitude to Mrs. Fannie Marple Retts, for it is due to her initiative and enterprise that Glendale residents had the privilege of hearing last evening the greatest concert that has ever been given in this city.

"Primarily, of course," said Mrs. Retts in an interview with a Press reporter this morning, "my object in bringing these great artists here was to make some money for the expenses of the convention, but that was not my only motive. I felt that to bring such wonderful music to Glendale at so reasonable a price would encourage others to try to bring other musical attractions here. We have so many organized musical organizations in Glendale now that much can be done to bring great music to our city."

Concert returns are not all in, but a profit is certain, though not so large a one as would have accrued had every one of the 4000 seats been taken.

Big Tent Notes

Wilbur Raisner, second vice-president, who hails from Calistoga, Napa county, blew in this morning and is getting acquainted with us of the Southland.

Everything is moving off like clockwork in the various departments. Baggage is checked, then delegates get badges and programs, then line up for assignment to homes in the city.

Oakland is early in the fight for next year's convention and so far, has little or no opposition.

REALTY ROMANCE ON SAN FERNANDO

Newby Offered a Sensational Price for Corner He Recently Purchased

Editor Glendale Press: An article printed exclusively in the Glendale Press concerning Newby's Corner, where the San Fernando road again turns north, to the effect that details had been printed in Popular Mechanics, brings to mind a great thought which is this: When you have in mind an idea and a vision of the possibilities in Glendale relative to real estate and business, that is the time to put it in working order. In other words "grab it."

Over a year ago we were convinced of the great possibilities of San Fernando road and our conviction has been proved to be correct by the great development along that thoroughfare. We looked over this corner and after pleading with the owner succeeded in securing it for sale. Then we took a great number of people who were looking for business opportunities along a traffic thoroughfare and tried to make them see its great value as a fruit stand or gas and service station. All passed it up until Mr. Newby came down from Stockton and upon having the location shown him immediately saw its possibilities. The business he built up there within three months is to his credit. Very shortly after he purchased the corner through the Guthrie agency he bought the lot adjoining on the east. On account of personal reasons he had to go north again and take up his former business of acting as buyer in the San Joaquin valley for jobbers and brokers in the produce line in San Francisco. Mr. Newby has just leased his stand for a period of five years at a splendid rental and, strange as it may seem, a few hours after the lease was signed he was offered a spot-cash price for his holdings that would set a record for San Fernando properties.

Along this line there has recently been sold through the Guthrie agency a strip of ground only 20 feet wide and 156 feet long just west of the Southern Pacific tracks along Los Feliz road on which will be erected a carpet-cleaning establishment with a glass front so the workings can be viewed by the public. This was bought by D. S. Galloway of Hollywood from Harry Tobias of our city.

Other transfers within the past week have been made as follows:

For Mrs. C. H. Huseman, lot on West Vine street to Walter Riand.

For Ralph Huseman of Desmond & Company to Duncan Gardner, lot on West Vine.

For C. A. Nulte, lot on West Elk to E. M. Elio Ramelli.

These gentlemen intend very shortly to improve these lots.

C. E. VON OVEN.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS

(By International News Service)

BARNESBORO, Pa., June 25.—This was a town of sorrow today following the collapse of a wall and roof of the Grand theater, a motion picture house, late yesterday, which resulted in the death of seven persons. The foundations of the building, softened by rain, crumbled beneath the wall and the entire side of the structure caved in carrying the roof into the center of the auditorium. The crash came during a second afternoon performance when the majority of those present were children. No more than 20 persons were in the house at the time.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Despite the opposition of the administration to a small army of 150,000 men, as fixed by congress, President Harding will sign the army bill, it was said authoritatively today. Progress Is Shown Among Negroes

(By International News Service)

DES MOINES, June 23.—Notable progress in educational work among negroes and Indians in this country and the people of Central America, the opening of an international Baptist seminary to train preachers for work among foreign-speaking people, establishment of a boys' camp applying the "Plattsburg idea" to religious training, and creation of an architectural bureau to help make religious edifices more effective, were among features of the 89th report of the American Baptist Home Mission Society presented to the Northern Baptist convention today by Dr. Charles L. White, executive secretary.

Schools for negroes and Indians have been taxed to their utmost capacity, according to Dr. George R. Hovey, of the educational department. Through gifts from the general educational board and John D. Rockefeller, the salary of teachers in these schools is being increased and new buildings provided at Bacone Indian college, Bacone, Okla., and Morehouse college, Atlanta, Ga. Indians of Oklahoma have given $175,000 to aid Bacone. Need for further extension of this educational work is urgent, declares Dr. Charles A. Brooks, in charge of negro missions. An intense race consciousness is furnishing a perplexing problem for the negro churches. Training of young people for more adequate service in church and community centers is one help to the solution of this difficulty.

In the United States, said Dr. Lemuel C. Barnes, the society is cooperating in 166 towns and cities in missionary and church extension work. Recommendation is made for more aggressive organization for smaller cities. In sparsely-settled areas six general missionaries, 43 assistants and 169 missionary pastors have had charge of 220 churches and covered a vast territory, where there are no churches. There are 15 Indian missionaries working among their own people. Reclamation projects in the northwest, said Dr. Barnes, foreshadow a big task along missionary lines in the near future.

Penetrate Russia

Among the foreign born an attitude of bitterness, due to suspiciousness and indiscriminate charges of radicalism, to the coming of prohibition and propaganda about Sunday restrictions, Dr. Brooks reports, have hampered Americanization. However, on the Pacific coast much has been accomplished among Orientals, workers being sent among Chinese and Hindoos. Mexicans, too, have responded well and a Mexican department of the International seminary has been opened in Los Angeles. Pastor J. A. Frey of Riga, has aided Russian groups in this country; and the Rev. Andres Tettermann of Revel is pastor of the first Esthonian church in America. In the training of leaders from other lands, Dr. Brooks said, the International seminary will solve many present difficulties.

Thirteen Christian religious educational-social centers are now in operation, supported jointly by the two Home Mission societies. Ten others are definitely planned, and five others are conditional upon financial conditions.

Sam Seelig Store Is Crowded Today

A fresh stock of fruits and vegetables, to be replenished daily, will be dealt in by the Coast Fruit and Vegetable company, from stands to occupy a section of the store fronting on the sidewalk.

All yesterday the various departments were busy receiving and checking truckloads of supplies and each is completely stocked. The Sam Seelig company will engage in their customary "Cash is King" business with a view to reducing prices to a minimum.

From the moment the doors of the new market opened this morning great crowds thronged the boulevard and sought entrance to inspect the various departments of the store which appeared dressed for a gala holiday with floral offerings, sent in congratulation from the managers of other Sam Seelig stores, festooning the place.

G. E. Alexander, manager of the local market, is delighted with the success of opening day and is making every effort, as host, to please visitors. The orchestra which renders selections from time to time serves as a big drawing attraction to the crowd.

Building Permits

With building permits for the month mounting over $226,000, June of this year will exceed by a considerable margin the value of permits issued for the corresponding month of 1920, which totalled $202,971. This brings the building permits issued for the year up to $1,887,749.

"I DROPPED in to see Mrs. Wigglemeyer today," announced Mrs. Jamesworthy, "and she showed me through the house. They have the finest mahogany furniture I have seen in a long time. I hope I am not envious or covetous, but when I contemplated that beautiful furniture, and thought of our own old stuff, I felt sick at heart. I love beautiful things, and have been deprived of them all my days."

"It's a pity about you," said Jamesworthy. "You'd better go out to the woodshed and hold an indignation meeting and pass a series of resolutions denouncing your toil-worn husband because he hasn't furnished you with marble halls and vassals and serfs by your side.

"You know that I am swaybacked and kneesprung as a result of my heroic efforts to keep the wolf from the door. If you were the right sort of woman you would say, after seeing the Wigglemeyer outfit, 'My esteemed husband may not be able to surround me with such oriental luxury and magnificence, but everything we have, from the sanitary couch to the plush rocker, is paid for, and it is better to sit on a nail keg free from incumbrance, than to bask at ease on a Persian divan that may be confiscated by the installment house the first time we miss a payment.'

"If you would look at things in that light, Mrs. Jamesworthy, I would feel more like continuing the struggle to sidestep the poorhouse.

"Suppose we had the house full of sumptuous furniture, what better off would you be? There might be a sneaking satisfaction in showing it off to visitors, but such satisfaction is an unholy thing. It is the pride that goeth before destruction. It is vanity and vexation of spirit. Only a mean-spirited beldame will exhibit her gorgeous rosewood furniture to a woman who has to struggle along with a bed and dresser made of a cheap grade of pine.

"When the shades of night have fallen fast, and Mrs. Wigglemeyer goes to her bedroom and to her imposing mahogany bed, do you suppose she sleeps in it any better than you do in your golden oak bed that went out of fashion twenty years ago? I trow not, Mrs. Jamesworthy. That golden oak bed must have narcotic qualities, for the way you sleep is a caution to mummies. If you could hear yourself snoring you'd be perfectly satisfied with a couch that makes such snoring possible.

"In these degenerate days the women think of nothing but making a big display. If they can't do it in their millinery, they want to do it in their houses. They forget that all grandeur is superfluous. You get nothing out of it. What is a bed for? To sleep in; and when you sleep you are unconscious. Then what difference does it make whether you sleep in a $500 mahogany bed, or a $1 cotton hammock? What is a chair for? To sit in; and you can sit just as well in a rustic chair that you bought at a second-hand store, as you can in the chair of ebony inlaid with pearl.

"When I was young, women were different. My sainted mother had no use for expensive furniture. Father always was dissatisfied with the bed he had to sleep in. He made it himself, with an ax and crowbar, when he was a young man. The slats were always falling out of it and dumping my revered parent on the floor, and when he picked himself up he used to say things that had smoke on them. As he grew older he wanted a new modern bed, but mother wouldn't stand for it. She wouldn't hear of such extravagance. She used to tell father that he wouldn't be able to sleep in a first-class bed, he had so long been used to finding his feet about a yard higher than his head when he woke. Finally my mother—"

"I wish it was 'finally' with your mother," said Mrs. Jamesworthy. "I'm sick of hearing of her."

Defined.

"Would you call it a moral wrong to cheat a lawyer who had charged you an exorbitant fee?"

"No, I wouldn't. I'd call it a human impossibility."

Worse and Worse.

Greene—Ran across him, did you say?

"Well, I did say that, but as a matter of fact, I struck him downtown before I ran across him."

Participated in Four Wars

Urging the election of Dr. Wm. C. Mabry to the city council because of his 20 years' service in the United States Army, and participation in four wars, Col. James W. Everington, who retired from the regular army last year, and has made his home since in Glendale, today issued a direct appeal to all ex-service men to stand by their comrade. Col. Everington's letter follows:

"Comrades:—We have been called upon to support one of our number in his campaign for public office. Fair enough. He is one of us, BUT if we are to support him because of his service record, let us be consistent and support all service men whose records in and out of the service warrant such support.

"Dr. William C. Mabry, who is a candidate for office, is also an ex-service man. His service record has been published by the Glendale Better Council committee. I am writing this letter because some of our number, who do not know the doctor, have questioned the correctness of the statement as published.

"My opinion, I should say, is formed from long acquaintance. I have known "Doc" for about 20 years, we having first served together as lieutenants on duty with the Third Infantry, United States Army, consequently I feel somewhat qualified to pass on the doctor's service record as published by the Better Council committee. The only comment I would make in vouching for the correctness of the record as published is to say that it did not half tell the tale.

Dr. Mabry's military career may be said to have started early, as his great-great-granddfather served as a major in the Revolutionary army, his great-grandfather in the War of 1812, his grandfather in the Mexican War and his father, four of his father's brothers and five of his mother's brothers, in the Civil War. The doctor entered the service as an enlisted man in '98, won his promotion, and served with distinction in many campaigns and engagements, having heard and felt more hostile bullets than many of us who are now wearing service stripes and buttons.

"If any of the ex-service candidates are entitled to our support on the strength of their service records, the record of a man who has given the best of his life to the service, as Dr. Mabry has, entitles him to our best efforts.

"The stick-to-it-iveness, the bulldog determination, which enabled Dr. Mabry to swim rain-swollen tropical torrents and travel miles of flooded jungle, alone, at night, in the heart of the enemy's country, to secure aid for his command, in the Philippines, and which sustained him in the awful fights against cholera in the tropics and the "flu" in the big camps in this country, will get him what he goes after in the city council, if you elect him. His many years of experience as an executive in the army and in civil life have given him a broader outlook upon life than that of the average professional man and fits him for the position which his friends have now induced him to seek.

"As an exponent of fair play, I solicit your support for our comrade, William C. Mabry, the best all-around man in the race.

"JAMES EVERINGTON,
"A service man."

FEDERAL LAW SOUGHT TO PROTECT ELK HERD

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 25.—As a result of the mild winter experienced in many parts of the country, Uncle Sam's famous elk herd, which was reduced from about 20,000 to 9,000 during the winter before, probably will stage a strong rally, the field workers of the biological survey have reported to the Department of Agriculture.

During the previous winter the food shortage was such that the herd in the district around Jackson Hole, Gros Ventre and Buffalo Fork valleys was simply starved and frozen out.

The theory of relatives is that she married the poor simpleton because approaching age had made her desperate.

FINLAND WINS FIRST VERDICT

By EARL C. REEVES
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

LONDON, June 25—The first case brought before the bar of the League of Nations by a nation not a member of the League has been heard, it's "trial" completed, and the "verdict" rendered.

The first "verdict" of the League of Nations is against the principle of self-determination.

The most widely discussed of the Wilsonian fourteen points has thus been thrown overboard in the first great international test of the League, conceived and built upon those fourteen points.

The case is that of the Aaland Islands, which sought freedom from Finland and reunion, after a hundred years' absence, to Sweden.

Finland contended that the case was purely domestic, but a commission decided that "in view of Finland's rather uncertain international status and the undoubted wishes of the Aaland Islanders the dispute could not be considered wholly within Finland's domestic jurisdiction."

Having admitted the "undoubted wishes of the islanders" for junction with Sweden, the League commission proceeded to investigate, and found that of the 22,000 inhabitants 96 per cent were Swedish speaking. The commission's report shows that the islands petitioned for reunion with Sweden in 1917, again in 1918, and since then have made several petitions to the President of France, by a plebiscite in June, 1919, and by an appeal to the League of Nations in 1920.

Against these facts the committee rules:

"The committee believes, however, that Finland's right of sovereignty is incontestable and that to deprive Finland of the islands would be depriving it of a part of what rightly belongs to it.

"At the same time it does not believe that the principle of self-determination should apply in this case, for the reasons that the Swedish population of the islands is but a small part of the Swedish population of Finland as a whole; that the position of the majority of Swedes in Finland would be adversely influenced by the separation of the islands from Finland," and finally the report suggests that the islands' difficulties can be met by certain guarantees, among which is compulsory exclusion of Finnish from the schools and compulsory teaching of Swedish.

Among other essentials to good housekeeping is the disposition of a good sport.

MRS. D. RUGGIERO IS HOME AGAIN

Newly returned from the splendors of Paris, the magnificence of Rome and the delights of Boston Mrs. D. Ruggiero, wife of the proprietor of the Glendale restaurant, asserts that though her five months' trip was full of interest from start to finish she is glad to be back in the southland. "I found the Italians all anxious to come to America," said Mrs. Ruggiero, "and the people of Boston seem to have California fixed as their ultimate goal. I sympathize with both for not only did I rejoice in my return to the United States but I am delighted to find myself home in Glendale again."

Mrs. Ruggiero had as her final destination in Italy the little town of Roseto-Val-Fortore, near Rome, her mission being to return to this country with Antonio Ruggiero, a brother-in-law who is a deaf mute. The return voyage from Naples was made aboard the Canopic, the vessel it will be remembered which sailed after the passage of a bill by congress limiting the number of foreign immigrants and which was detained in Boston for a week until immigration officials decided upon the disposition of the passengers. Mrs. Ruggiero succeeded in obtaining permission to have her brother-in-law land though many others of the pasengers were returned to Italy.

While in Paris Mrs. Ruggiero visited the American cemetery where her brother, a member of the Marine regiment which fought in Belleau Woods, lies buried. According to Mrs. Ruggiero the cemeteries are well cared for. France, she asserts, is rapidly recovering from the war and Paris with its gayety holds little to remind one of the recent carnage.

It was difficult for Mrs. Ruggiero to determine the part of her trip she enjoyed most. Milan was interesting because of its wonderful cathedral, Florence charming with its rare art treasures, and Rome captivating because of its absorbing history, she said, adding that Paris, Lyons and Venice were also interesting in their own way.

Characterizing her entire trip as wonderful and pointing out that Europe possesses many beautiful spots, particularly rural Italy. Mrs. Ruggiero summed up her experience by asserting that old world methods and customs as exemplified through the people of those countries stand out in such contrast to the progressiveness of the west that it is refreshing to be back in California again.

PROFANITY AND HONESTY

A man who is fat, profane and married all in one stands a better chance of being an honest man than one who cannot boast of this combination of qualifications, according to Frederick N. Withey of New York, in addressing the members of the Kiwanis Club at Atlantic City. More specifically, Mr. Withey holds that fat, profane and married men make better surety risks; from which the deduction logically comes that this particular classification of homo sapiens is endowed with greater honesty than the thin bachelor not given to the saving sin of profanity. In part, the reasons he assigns are physiological, in part psychological. Fat men are "good feeders" and, having tasted the delights of good living, fat men are disposed to be on such friendly terms with the universe in general that they rarely do anything to arouse the avenging ire of the community in which they dwell. And, by a kindred token, married men are more honest than bachelors, says Mr. Withey, in the convincing ratio of 6 to 1. Loving their wives and their families, married men, he finds, are disposed to accept at its face value the venerable maxim that honesty is the best policy.

Not altogether illogical so far. But the relationship between honesty and profanity is not so easy to fathom. Profane men, we are told, give vent to the "cussedness," so basic a quality in all men, whether modern or aboriginal, by "cussing" and, having got rid in this way of their innate "cussedness," the swearers of oaths pursue their course in piety and humility, completely armor-proof against temptation. The swearless man, we may therefore presume, for every oath he does not utter, harbors a corresponding desire to do some foul and felonious deed. Yet the question naturally arises, Why is profanity necessary to rid each man of the innate "cussedness" which lurks in the very fibre of his being? Why would not any expletive do just as well, a "goodness gracious" as well as the unmentionable —— —— ——?

Until. therefore, we know what constitutes an honest oath and what does not, Mr. Withey's theory that profanity begets honesty must remain no more than an ingenious hypothesis. It would be a pretty pass, indeed, if a man's honesty should be measured by the number of swear words in his daily vocabulary.

RECONSTRUCTION

We are now passing through what political economists call "reconstruction with consequent deflation." It doesn't sound particularly exhilarating. But it looks as though it was like measles, mumps and whooping cough. We've been exposed and we are going to get it. This deflation and reconstruction will bring some little discomfort. It will probably cause some genuine hardships. There will be some real losses, and these losses may not be small. Now it is perfectly natural, and perfectly all right to take these things seriously, but not too seriously. Certainly not to the extent of feeling that we've nothing left to do but to grieve and sympathize with one another and be sorry for everything. This country is going to be here a long time after the sprig that will be laid on your grave has sprouted and grown to be a tree. There are some wonderful things to come to America. Our imagination isn't keen enough to even hazard a worth-while guess as to how wonderful these things will be. There are going to be good times—grand times—here. We cannot stop the great ship of Destiny. We would not do it if we could. But what we get out of life we have to get now. We have to meet conditions as they are. Readjustment, reconstruction, deflation can be done cheerfully, fairly, universally, if we don't take it all too seriously. Give a little more, take a little less, and when you haven't anything else to do, spread the sunshine.

GRAVE AND GAY

Physician—If your wife is a doctor, who don't you have her prescribe for you?

Patient—Too expensive. The last time she ordered me three months at Palm Beach and went with me herself.

Thomas—Jones is a great man to worry over nothing, isn't he?

Potts—Yes. Why, if he took an ocean voyage he would worry for fear the sea would dry up and leave him stranded in the mud!

"I saw the cutest little hat this afternoon."

"Did you buy it?"

"Not yet. I've got to pick out a more expensive one for my husband to refuse to buy so I can compromise on this one."

Private Bings drove to camp in a twin six car.

"Saluting's all rot," so he passed a two bar.

You wouldn't expect that he got very far.

He didn't.

Two gentlemen riding on a train were both very much intoxicated.

First Gent—what time is it?

Second Gent—(After extracting a matchbox from his pocket with much exertion and gazing at it intently)—Thursday.

First Gent—My God! I've got to get off here.

Dolly—What made Miss Perkins accept Cholly after first refusing him?

Daphne—Oh, he looked so cheap when she turned him down that she couldn't let the chance for a bargain escape her.

Bill—Have heard China is progressing a lot. They don't bundle their feet—

Joe—And they don't wear pigtails.

Bill—Wonder why that is?

Joe—On account of the high cost of pork.

"Mister," whined the beggar, "will you give a poor man something for a drink?"

"You bet I will," said the pedestrian brightening, "how much you got with you?"

Smith—That barber is an artist.

Jones—I should say he is. Look at my face. He always works in a few cuts with his stories.

The state of the world reminds us that the Prodigal didn't begin to mend his ways until he became a mendicant.

At times the motorist suspects that the only difference between gasoline and kerosene is five cents a gallon.

The only dollar-a-year men now in capacity are the tight boys who give their wives that much spending money.

It is admitted that the Chinese are more honest than other people, but they are rapidly learning Western culture.

If his love is growing cold, he does not notice that she is getting fat; if he loves her still, he notices it but he doesn't care.

As Lincoln expressed it, you can fool part of the people all the time. And that explains why they still sell chicken croquettes on dining cars.

WOMAN'S COZY CORNER

By JOSEPHINE FRANCE

COOKING IN HOT WEATHER

Hot weather is here, which means, if we are to keep well we must change our foods—not, please, that we must eat less food. The problem is, I think, exactly the opposite to that. We must plan to see that our meals are so attractive and appetizing that our family has sufficient nourishment to combat fatigue and nerve strain of the hot days.

Of course, we should use less heavy meats and rich gravies, less fats—such as bacon, butter, cream and fat meats. Appetite tells us this, but appetite does not always prove such a good guide.

You Always Need Food

Too many of us in the summer time drink quantities of iced tea in the afternoon if we are at home, or drop in at a soad fountain after another if we are downtown, until we are unable to eat anything for dinner. A few days of this and our undernourished bodies will commence to fatigue easily. A great many cases of heat exhaustion can be traced straight to inanition.

Cut down the starches and increase the fruits and vegetables. Use cheese and fish frequently in place of meat. Have the table attractive and dainty. Use flowers for decoration, but see that they are fresh. It is bad psychology to have then wilted and drooping.

Strawberries, blackberries, raspberries and cherries are plentiful this month. Use them while they last, both at breakfast and in the place of cooked desserts at dinner. Pineapples are in prime condition, but are not as wholesome as the berries. Fresh vegetable are plentiful, homegrown and consequently cheap.

Use Mushrooms

New mushrooms are coming in, and for company dinners, a few fresh mushrooms add greatly to the elegance of a dish and are not costly, when you consider that a half-pound will season a good-sized dish of chicken, and a quarter-pound will be quite enough for a pint of sauce.

Parsley and fresh green peppers add a great deal to the lighter meat dishes.

Later in the month serve broiled tomatoes, fried eggplant or squash in place of eggs for breakfast. Chafing-dish luncheons are attractive and are very helpful these hot days. Creamed chipped beef, chicken a la king, crab meat in any number of attractive dishes that can be prepared quickly and easily in a good chifing dish.

Use Simple Salads

Serve simple salads with French dressing. Avoid heavy meat salads mixed with mayonnaise dressing during the hot months. Fruit cocktails are a welcome change from hot soup. Good combinations are pineapple, banana and lemon; strawberry and orange, raspberries and currants, cherries also.

The electric grill, hot plate, and utility stoves give us a happy deliverance from the oppressive heat of the kitchen range in hot weather. They are so convenient to prepare a quick luncheon or supper. Here are some 15-minute recipes:

CREAMED CUCUMBERS

Three medium-sized cucumbers, salt and pepper, 2 tablespoons butter or substitute, 1 cup cream.

Peel the cucumbers and cut into small pieces. Melt the butter in a saucepan or chafing-dish and add the cucumbers. Simmer slowly for 12 minutes; then add the cream and seasoning and cook for three minutes longer. Serve on toast.

DEVILED CORN

Two tablespoons butter or substitute, 1 cup sweet corn, two-thirds cup sweet milk, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, buttered crackers or toast, 4 tablespoons flour, one-third teaspoon mustard, one-eighth teaspoon paprika, 1 egg, 1 level teaspoon salt.

Place the butter in a blazer or aluminum frying-pan. Mix the salt, mustard and paprika with the flour and blend into the melted butter. Pour on gradually, while stirring constantly, the milk. When the boiling-point is reached, remove from the fire and stir in the egg slightly beaten, add the Worcestershire sauce and the corn and cook a few minutes longer. Pour over buttered crackers or toasted squares or rounds.

CHIPPED BEEF WITH TOMATO SAUCE

One tablespoon butter, pinch of cayenne, parsley or garden cress, salt and flour, toast, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 cup thin chipped beef, 2 large tomatoes.

Peel and cut the tomatoes into bits and dip in seasoned flour. Place the butter in the blazer or pan, add the minced onion, add the tomatoes and cook two or three minutes; then stir in the chipped beef, cover and simmer for ten minutes. If dried beef is used no salt need be used. Pour over the toast and garnish with parsley or cress.

CREAMED CHICKEN WITH PEAS

Three tablespoons butter or substitute, 1 cup cooked chicken, 1¼ cups milk, salt and pepper, 3 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup cooked peas, 1 tablespoon minced parsley.

Place the butter in pan or blazer and blend in the flour; then gradually stir in the milk; chicken stock may be used. Season to taste, and stir constantly until thick and smooth. Add the cooked chicken cut up into cubes and the peas. Simmer for five or ten minutes and serve with rolls or lettuce sandwiches.

Screen Star Becomes Expert at Skiing

Skiing gracefully and daringly is the latest assomplishment acquired by Corinne Griffith, the Vitagraph star.

Miss Griffith and her company of players under the direction of Webster Campbell went into the Adirondack mountains to make snow scenes for the production "What's Your Reputation Worth." They arrived there when winter sports were at their height. Although born in Texas, she just naturally took to skiis and soon became an adept. Several views of Miss Griffith on skiis were shown in the production.

BACHELOR ADMIRAL ADOPTS ORPHANS AND WRITES RULES

(By International News Service)

ANDERSON, S. C., June 25.—The day before the scheduled arrival here of Rear Admiral Newton A. McCully's seven Russian orphans, who were brought from Sebastopol to Washington six months ago and from there to this city where court proceedings were begun to make the children full-fledged South Carolinians, a special delivery package was handed to Mrs. Carry McCully, mother of Admiral McCully, at whose home the Russian governess and Miss Vina Patrick, an English tutor, are now staying for the Summer. This package contained a typewritten document of instructions by which the conduct of the children is to be governed, and was prepared by Admiral McCully himself, who is a confirmed bachelor.

This document, containing several thousand words, provides work and play for every minute of the day from 7 o'clock in the morning until they retire at 8 o'clock in the evening. Under no conditions must these rules be violated except by permission of the Russian governess of Miss Vina Patrick, a niece of the Admiral, who has been in Washington with the children seven months. The day must begin with all alike taking gymnastic exercises to develop their bodies, then a cold bath, when they are ready for breakfast, which consists of cereal, milk and eggs.

There are seldom seen three stronger girls than those of twelve years of age. They are the housekeepers in Washington and the Admiral expects them to keep up the work while they are with his mother, Mrs. McCully, this summer. They set the table and when the meal is finished say nothing to anybody but immediately clear the table and if the cook is not there wash the dishes and put them away. A chart is kept in English by Miss Patrick and a chart in Russian by the Russian governess. Each day the children are marked according to the way they have done their duties, by red stars. At the end of the month the one getting the most red stars gets a gold one, which they proudly wear. Each child also receives a money compensation for the work done.

Children Are Paid For Work

For one hour a day the Russian governess gives a Russian lesson and for one hour Miss Patrick teaches a lesson in English. They are not speaking very much English yet, but they understand very readily what is said to them. The children must be in bed at 8 o'clock, lights will be turned off at this time if there is any difficulty about getting the children to turn in. Electric bulbs will be removed and short bits of candles served out. There are prescribed duties for each child and their "titles" are, gardener and furnace man, assistant housekeeper, assistant cook, assistant nurse, first door maid, second door maid and messenger. The schedule of monthly pay runs from $1.50 for the first to 25c for the last named. The children may do as they please with the money, but each amount deposited by any of them in a savings bank will be doubled by an amount deposited by the Admiral to his or her credit. The failure of any child to carry out his day's duties is punishable by stated deductions from the child's pay.

Corporal punishment for any offense is strictly forbidden. In a chapter entitled "honor" appear these instructions "Tell the truth" and "Take nothing that does not belong to you." Regarding courtesy, the admiral advises his wards, "Try to help others and they will help you." "Be patient and you will get something you want." Good manners will be taught by the use of good manners." For the information of thhe governess, whose duty it is to teach these principles of courtesy, the admiral says, in a subheading entitled, "Errors in teaching good manners," this, "Better a child knows no rule of good manners than a self-conscious child." There will be still time to teach good manners, but a self-conscious child is past help. A final chapter on "control and training of children" leads off with the platitude that "the child must know that it has a mission in life."

Adoption Proceedings Scheduled

Under a sub-heading the admiral says: "Anger is human, an angry moment now and then will not do much harm unless the grown-up should say something that would be better left unsaid." "Orders must sometimes be given," says another paragraph, and "before giving an order consider carefully, since an order once given must be followed up until executed or authority will suffer. Choose a quiet moment during which to give the order, use a quiet tone of voice, and make sure the child understands an order is to be given but once."

Admiral McCully says that the children are becoming more interesting every day. He has taught them to swim, and they are learning American customs rapidly and they will soon be true South Carolinians. When he looks at them he is thankful that they are here and not starving in Russia, he says. Court proceedings for the adoption of the children will begin in the June term of the court of common pleas, when all seven of the children will legally become the children of Admiral McCully.

FIRMLY ANCHORED IN CITY OF HOMES

When Dr. J. D. Camerer and wife came here from Illinois in the spring of 1920, "just looking around for a location," it did not take them long to decide that Glendale was a mighty fine city to live in. They bought Clyde Morrison's residence property at 311 West Garfield and settled down to enjoy life. But a few months ago their quietude was menaced in rather a peculiar way. Theirs is a key lot, and on the corner facing east on Central, a bungalow court was about to rise. This would have shut off their view from their little home, so Dr. Camerer promptly bought the lot, which is 57 by 167½, and late this fall expects to build upon it a large and handsome residence for occupancy by himself and wife.

Dr. Camerer owns a good-sized farm near Kinmundy, Marion county, Illinois, and also 530 acres, comprising three farms in Edgar county, ten miles north of Paris, the county seat. The soil is the rich black loam which has made central and northern Illinois famous for great corn fields. Part of this land, 280 acres, in fact, has been in the Camerer family 99 years. In 1822 Dr. Camerer's grandfather left Harrisburg, Pa., with his wife and 11 children, traversed the wilds of the Keystone state, Ohio and Indiana, and finally took up seven 40-acre tracts in what was afterward Edgar county, Illinois. He gave a 40 to each of seven of the children and to the others gave stock of equal value. Dr. Camerer's father afterward bought out the other six owners of forties and consolidated the 280 acres into one farm. Then he decided, in 1849, to try gold seeking, and made the trip across the country to California. He did not find much gold so returned to the Illinois home and afterward died there. Dr. Camerer bought out the other heirs to the home farm, added 250 acres to it and still owns the entire tract. His four farms are all rented, so he can take life easy. He contemplates a trip back to Illinois this summer to look after the property and on his return expects to take up building plans.

GLENDALE BOYS AT PINE FLAT CAMP

Tuesday afternoon, a very happy group of Glendale boys in charge of Secretary Rex Kelley and P. L. Hatch, left the city and motored to the Red Triangle cabin in San Gabriel canyon, enroute for the Y. M. C. A. camp, higher up. The party included Robert Hatch, Leslie Hatch, Clifford Walcott, Wilbur Booth, Arthur Cressey, Ordean Chase, Alexander Chase, Carter Booth, Robert McReynolds, Ray Proctor, Burton Dilley, Lawrence Mason, Kenneth Brandstater and Eugene Zurr.

Mr. Kelley and Mr. Hatch returned to Glendale, leaving the boys to spend the night in the cabin. Early the next morning they made up their bed rolls, which were packed on the backs of burros, and under the guidance of George Hargrave, of Glendora, Ralph Schafer, of Monrovia, J. M. Goold and C. M. Nelson of El Monte, Perry Morris of San Dimas and County Secretary Neil Locke, the boys from Glendale and other towns, represented at the cabin, hiked to the Pine Flats camp, which they reached Wednesday night. It was a 17-mile hike and the route was along the worn road of the San Gabriel canyon to the branch of the North Fork, then through Camp Rincon and Coldbrook and over the mountain trail to the upper site.

The camp enrollment points to a capacity number of 125 for this second section, and the cities represented are: Claremont, San Dimas, Covina, Monrovia, El Monte, Alhambra, Eagle Rock, Annandale, Glendale and Burbank.

The Glendale boys will return July 5, and their places will be taken in the camp by a group of younger boys who will stay until July 19.

Palace Grand

New Russell Picture

With the towering California Redwoods as a background, William Russell provides beauty for the eye and thrills for the heart in "The Man Who Dared," a new William Fox drama written by Julius G. Furthman, which is shown today at the Palace Grand theatre.

The story is that of Big Jim O'Kane, a lumberjack boss who falls in love with the girl upon whom the sheriff has set his heart. The sheriff is a powerful figure, but before the play is over he finds that it is very unhealthy to be at war with Big Jim O'Kane. As for the girl—well, she is played by pretty Eileen Percy, a newcomer with Fox who has become a star; who possesses a charming face figure, winsome Irish grace of manner, and real ability to portray emotion.

Larry Semon in his latest scream, "The Rent Collector," and Bill and Bob Bradbury of Glendale in a reel of fun and adventure entitled "Catching A Coon" complete this excellent program.

Glendale Theatre

Comedians, dancers, musicians, singers and acrobats in high class vaudeville acts from the world's leading circuits, the excellent music and the feature picture "What's Your Reputation Worth" starring Corinne Griffith, which was so well received yesterday by patrons, combine to make the program at the Glendale Theatre today unusually interesting. This remarkable show comes direct from a 16 weeks' engagement at Grauman's Million-Dollar theater. The celebrated Spanish Troubadours offer "A Night In Sunny Spain." The picture is the best and biggest popular priced show ever presented anywhere. The price remains the same and the program is par excellence. Don't miss it.

Extraordinary Picture

Deeply impressed and moved were the fifteen or more Glendalians who responded to the invitation of the Palace Grand management to attend a preview Friday morning of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" which is to have its public showing at that theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. As a picture it is very beautiful, as a production, magnificent, and one can well believe the representations that it cost $1,000,000 and that 13,000 people were employed in the cast. Its appeal is many sided. Strong dramatic situations grip the interest, but like all great work it is a product of a great theme—the world war, and no one who sees it can get away from the lesson it seeks to teach. The opportunity to view it is a precious privilege which no one who has the price should forego because it is a revelation of what an instrument for good in motion picture may become. A metro masterpiece, the play is a dramatization of the novel of the same name by Vicente Blasco Ibanez which has been the talk of two continents for the past 18 months, and the subject of reviews by students of literature in our own city.

Claim Chaulmoogra Oil Is Tuberculosis Curative

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—Chaulmoogra oil, enigma or ointment of the ancient Hindoos, may yet prove to be a great boon to civilization. It is a more or less recent discovery for the treatment of leprosy, and it is hoped the oil can also be used for the cure of tuberculosis.

It was Dr. Ernest L. Walker, member of the staff of the Hooper Research Institute of this city, who opened the way for the fight against the white plague with chaulmoogra oil, and his studies and discoveries along that line have won him fame and admiration among brother scientists.

With the discovery that chaulmoogra oil was a cure for leprosy, Dr. Walker also discovered that the acids from the oil were germicidal and fatal to the bacilli of both leprosy and tuberculosis. These are the only known acids with this effect.

"In leprosy the use of chaulmoogra oil is almost a certain cure, except for the more advanced cases," Dr. Walker declared. "No longer are lepers in Honolulu taken for life confinement to the island of Molakai, but are given treatment in hospitals.

"Results attained so far with the use of chaulmoogra oil are amazing. In Honolulu alone more than one hundred and forty-two cases have been pronounced as cured during the last two and one-half years. With the use of the oil a case of leprosy can be cured in from one to two years.

"But as to the use of chaulmoogra oil for tuberculosis, we are only beginning our battle. We have scientific grounds on which to believe that the oil is a cure for tuberculosis, as it is for leprosy. We are experimenting now as fast as possible with rabbits and other animals and hope that in six months or a year we can claim a certain cure," said the doctor.

Speaking of leprosy again, Dr. Walker declared there were several cases now under treatment in San Francisco at the isolation hospital and that encouraging results have been attained.

Product of Bean Seed

"The cases are Orientals and illiterates, who are not compelled to take the treatment; but those who have stuck to it have shown marked improvement, and in time we hope to have cured cases," he said.

Chaulmoogra oil is the product of a bean seed found only in India and has been used for centuries by the Hindoos in making salve, which was applied for leprosy with more or less success. Sometimes it was administered internally through the stomach. But this method was not satisfactory because of the violent reaction. The solution of chaulmoogra oil is injected into the muscles, from which it is absorbed into the blood and returned again to the tissues.

The process by which the acid is extracted from the oil is long and tedious and, although costly, will not prove prohibitive to the general use of the solution should it measure up to the hopes of Dr. Walker and his co-workers.

Dr. Walkeris more than optimistic that the oil will prove a cure for tuberculosis, but said that as his investigations are only preliminary he cannot make any definite announcement at this time.

PRETTY SURPRISE FOR MISS SHARPE

A few days ago Miss Gladys Sharpe, a well loved teacher in the Intermediate school, was asked by Mrs. T. J. MacDougall if she would assist in serving at a little afternoon affair at which some of the mothers of pupils in her room were to be entertained. She graciously consented, and the tea party came off Thursday afternoon, but when Miss Sharpe arrived at the home of the hostess at 128 West Elk street, she was a much surprised young woman, for she discovered that instead of being a servitor she was to be the guest of honor.

It proved an exceedingly pleasant afternoon for all the ladies participating. Mrs. MacDougall had beautifully decorated her home with Shirley poppies from her own garden, and at the close of the day delicious refreshments of tea, sandwiches, cake and ice cream were served.

The guest list included Mmes. John W. Sharpe, Clarence Kalbaugh, T. M. Hatch, Louis Hart, Reed, Mary H. Carpenter, Goodale, A. A. Barton, Ed Lee, F. A. Beach, C. H. Crawford, Browne, H. W. Timothy.

Candidates Stephenson and Kirk

Editor Glendale Press: Every man likes a square deal both for himself and his neighbor and we all resent an unfair word against a man whom we know has a clean record.

I have noted with considerable interest the quick intuitive and highly intelligent businesslike manner with which Mr. Stephenson has presided over the meetings of our Glendale City Council and I am impressed with the thought that the voters of our city cannot afford to dispense with his services. I do not know this gentleman personally, but he shall have my vote, as shall Mr. W. B. Kirk, whom I have known during the year and a half since I came to Glendale, and whom I have come to esteem for his high ideals, keen business ability and honorable record as a good citizen of Glendale. Let us put both of these men in the council where they can serve our interests with honor to us and themselves.

Always for Glendale, yours,
JAMES H. GARNEY.
438 Vine Street. June 25, 1921.

History tells us how long ancient Tyre lasted, but neglects to get the mileage.

There is no reason to believe that the pipe of peace is an oil conduit.

The thing a mere man can't understand is why coming-out gowns are not made of outing.

No doubt it is called the spoils system because it spoils the service.

Come, Let Us Reason Together---Fairly and Calmly

The Municipal League and the so-called "Good Government" League complain bitterly because we are frankly discussing the issues of this campaign.

They say our arguments are chiefly for political purposes. Granted. This is a political, not a personal fight.

The civic views, intentions and affiliations of a candidate are proper and necessary subjects of discussion when he submits himself to his fellow citizens and asks their votes.

By what right can a candidate, embarrassed by a searching examination of his qualifications, cry "King's X" and gain immunity, like a child at play?

Government is a serious business.

TO THE CANDIDATES OF THE MUNICIPAL LEAGUE:

Two or three days ago we asked you a plain, simple question: "Will you, or will you not, vote against a Sunday closing law, if introduced?"

To this you evasively answer: "We believe every man has a right to worship God when and how he pleases."

You have nowhere in your short, platitudinous statement, denied that you would vote in favor of Sunday closing for Glendale if such an ordinance is introduced, notwithstanding our insistence upon a frank response.

Under all the circumstances we are forced to conclude that: THE MUNICIPAL LEAGUE CANDIDATES HAVE CONFESSED TO A SUNDAY-CLOSING PROGRAM.

"THEY SO CREDITABLY SERVE" THE CORPORATIONS.

The Good Government candidates, Stephenson and Lapham, are strongly endorsed by officers of the gas, telephone and railroad trusts, whom "they so creditably serve." (See their ad in Thursday's papers.)

It is scarcely necessary to remind the voters that: "No man can serve two masters, for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will hold to the one and despise th other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon"—Matt. 6:24.

THE GLENDALE BETTER COUNCIL CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS THE FOLLOWING CANDIDATES:

WALTER E. ANDERSON, 410 West Los Feliz; age 50 years; resided in Glendale 15 years; garage and auto service business. A substantial, conservative, successful business man and a large taxpayer. He will be interested in economy and efficiency. He is a practical mechanical engineer and his knowledge as such will be of great service to the city. He will bring to the Board a long and successful business experience — a quality now needed in our city government.

S. A. DAVIS, 118 West Colorado; age 46 years; resided in Glendale 9 years; real estate and investments; formerly in feed and fuel business. He has had an active, honorable and successful business career in our midst and he is a man of sane, independent judgment. He is prepared to give a great deal of time and attention to the city's affairs.

C. E. KIMLIN, 219 North Isabel; age 40 years; resided in Glendale 8 years. He is business manager of our most famous institution, the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, known the country over. He is a man of great popularity because of his great ability and never-failing courtesy. He has had 20 years of active and successful business experience. He has been actively interested in civic betterment and humanitarian movements.

WILLIAM C. MABRY, 115 East Acacia avenue; age 49 years; resided in Glendale approximately 9 years. After his graduation from medical college he served his country in four campaigns: Spanish-American War; Chinese Boxer Expedition; Philippine Insurrection, and the World War. Throughout many years of army service and in civil life he has continuously occupied administrative and executive positions of great responsibility. During his residence in this city he was city health officer of Tropico during three administrations and was, for three or four years, president of the Tropico Chamber of Commerce. He also served as superintendent of the Playgrounds Association and installed the Tropico playgrounds. He has been closely identified with every public improvement, including the paving and lighting of Brand boulevard and the acquisition of the water system. Dr. Mabry is a highly educated man and has had unusual training and experience in the field of sanitation, as this was one of his special duties during the many years he served in the army. His knowledge and experience in the field of sanitation alone will not only protect the health of the City of Glendale in the event of the improvement of our water supply and the installation of a sewage disposal plant, but will save the taxpayers thousands if not hundreds of thousands of dollars. Dr. Mabry is a specialist and is not engaged in general practice. As a physician he thoroughly believes in medical freedom under the law. That is, he believes in the right of any individual to choose any method of healing he may desire. During the last nine months he has been in the service as Acting Assistant Surgeon, U. S. Public Health Service, in care of disabled veterans of the World War. All of the disabled veterans under his charge at Thornycroft warmly commend him.

SPENCER ROBINSON, 1234 East Windsor; age 52 years; resided in Glendale 14 years; real estate business. He is a substantial business man, having considerable property in Glendale, and his course as City Trustee has met with the approval of the City of Glendale. He is in a position to give his time and attention to the city's interests.

Do You VOTE Tuesday?

THE GLENDALE MUNICIPAL LEAGUE

Presents to you the most Capable, Business-Like, Repreesntative Group of Candidates Running.

MRS. ANN P. BARTLETT,
347 North Brand Blvd.

Conforming to the prevailing custom, I respectfully submit the following statement for the consideration of the public:

I have been a resident of Glendale for thirteen years and watching its wonderful growth I have confidence it will continue. We are expanding in many directions very rapidly—new needs are constantly arising—but as far as consistent with our growth and development, I favor a progressive and economical administration of city affairs. Possibly many questions will arise in the future that we cannot now foresee. I am not pledged to any person, group, denomination or organization, but, if elected, expect to decide to the best of my ability, for the interests of the majority, regardless of locality.

I have been before the public in the following positions:

President of the Tuesday Afternoon Club for two years.

President of "Chapter L." P. E. O. for one and one-half years.

Purchasing Agent of the Glendale Red Cross Chapter for two years, and have been Chairman of the Chapter for over two years.

For the past year I have been one of the City Trustees.

ANN P. BARTLETT.

WM. B. KIRK,
504 East Broadway

To the Citizens of Glendale:

For the thirteen years I have lived in Glendale I have tried to do my civic duty as I saw it and have loyally supported every effort made by the City Government to build up and "keep clean" our beautiful city. My work as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce in 1913 was so harmonious and happy, that I look back to it as one of the best years of my life.

Twenty years as traveling salesman for a large wholesale house in the middle west, ten years in the establishment of a shirt factory, and eight years in the insurance business in Glendale and Los Angeles, constitutes my business history.

At a real sacrifice to private interest I have agreed to make this race that I may be of service to my fellow-townsmen. I care nothing for political honors. I am against public pool-rooms and have always been strong for a swimming pool.

If elected I would continue to be what I have given evidence of being in the past. I regard a public office as a public trust and would strive to represent all the people. But, whoever we elect, let us hold up their hands, praise the good, minimize the mistakes, and continue good neighbors and friends.

WILLIAM B. KIRK.

CHARLES H. MUHLEMAN,
222 East Garfield

Fellow Citizens:

I am a native of the state of Ohio. After removing to California in 1909 I built my home on what is now Garfield avenue, where I still reside with my wife and three children.

When I was twenty-one I became associated with the H. J. Heinz Company of Pittsburg and that association has remained up to the present time. I own business property in Glendale and am a member of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce. I have always been keenly interested and actively engaged in matters which affected civic affairs.

The chief issue before the people is to choose good citizens for city officials under the new Freeholders Charter. There is no need of crimination or recrimination on the part of the candidates. There is no need for injecting the so-called "Blue Law" charges into the campaign to befog the real question which is to secure sober, sane people of common sense to administer our growing city's affairs. I am glad to say that I am under no promise to any person, clique, or class of persons. My best endeavors would be used in the interests of the people.

CHARLES H. MUHLEMAN.

HOWARD W. WALKER,
1439 East California St.

To the Voters of Glendale:

In allowing my name to be placed in nomination for election to the City Council, I did so unpledged in any way, shape or manner, other than if elected to serve the City of Glendale, using my best business judgment, and at all times carrying out the will of the people.

A false issue has been raised by certain parties as the "Sunday Blue Laws." In that respect, I will state I am for the proper observance of Sunday as it is observed at the present time. It goes without question that a successful business man is not "fanatical," but would be guided in all questions of vital importance by the will of the people.

I have no personal ill feeling towards any of the candidates and whatever the result of the coming election may be will render the new council my entire support.

HOWARD W. WALKER.

HENRY W. YARICK,
347 West Wilson St.

To the Voters of Glendale:

I have been a resident of the City of Glendale for the past fourteen years. I am proud of the great growth and splendid record the city has made, and if elected to the council, will do all in my power to foster the city's progress and development, and uphold its reputation as a clean, progressive home town.

As a tax payer, I am interested in seeing the tax burden lessened, waste eliminated wherever it may exist, and efficiency and economy practiced in the handling of the public's business. I am confident that many years of strict business training fully qualify me for giving due consideration to all these matters.

I believe in giving every section of the city a square deal.

Much is being said about so-called "Blue Laws." This is merely a temporary agitation for political purposes only. I am not connected with any such movement, and have no knowledge that any such laws are even contemplated.

I am not pledged to any set policy, nor to any individual or organization. If you see fit to honor me with the office, I will serve the people to the best of my ability, and carry out the will of the majority of the people.

HENRY W. YARICK.

What Is the Municipal League?

The Municipal League is an organization of business men and other citizens who were among the first to see the need of some high-grade material in the City Council, to manage the affairs of the city under our new charter, and have since given much of their time in thoughtful study of the situation and qualifications of all candidates for the office.

As the members of the League had no personal axes to grind, they could look at the situation from an impartial standpoint. So they looked about for prospective councilmen who were capable, representative and upstanding citizens of long residence in Glendale, familiar with city affairs, and with no special, political, business or personal alliances to serve, and who were willing to work at the job and give it the same attention that they had their private affairs.

After our deliberations we were proud to recommend to the voters of Glendale the candidacies of Ann P. Bartlett, William B. Kirk, Chas. H. Muhleman, Howard W. Walker and Henry W. Yarick.

Later our candidates were endorsed by the Federated Brotherhoods of Glendale, whose slogan is "A Clean City, Kept Clean."

The Glendale Municipal League is making a fair, business-like campaign, without unpleasant personalities, and intends so to continue until 7 o'clock Tuesday night. On Wednesday we expect to have no rash charges or bitter statements to regret. Glendale is too wholesome a community to complacently tolerate any other kind of campaign.

Voters of Glendale:

By all means VOTE. If you neglect to vote what right have you to object to any sort of government for the next two years? Vote for our candidates for the following seven reasons:

(1) CHARACTER—They are socially, educationally and morally strong, outstanding personalities of proven integrity that the people can absolutely trust.

(2) INDEPENDENCE—They are not pledged to any man, measure, corporation or group of men whatsoever. They are determined only to serve the people faithfully and carry out the will of the majority.

(3) REPRESENTATIVENESS—They are residents of different sections of the city—North, South, East, West, Center. They understand the needs of their respective districts, and yet are of that broad-spirited type that will not forget the interests of our city as a whole.

(4) RESIDENCE—They are residents of many years. Not one has lived in Glendale less than 12 years. They know the city.

(5) BUSINESS CAPACITY—They are, without exception, property-holding citizens, with unusual experience in conducting business affairs for others as well as for themselves. They understand administration.

(6) HARMONY AND OPTIMISM—They are aggressive boosters, with enthusiastic hopes for the Greater Glendale. "Knocking" is not in their vocabulary. If you want harmony and optimism, elect them.

(7) SENSE—They are sane, friendly and judicial, and positively have no intention of foisting "Blue Laws" and "Fanatical" legislation upon Glendale. They completely deserve the confidence of sensible citizens.

NOTICES

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

The only way a city of Glendale's type can complete the gamut of "good," "better," is with "best."

Our friends of the "Good" Government League and "Better" Council groups have driven us to the admission that our Municipal League ticket of Bartlett, Kirk,, Muhleman, Walker and Yarick, is the "best." We are modest, but truth compels us to annex that only remaining adjective.

Any doubters?

Then find our proof in the full page ad in today's Press. Get the real facts and you will think as we do. It is the BEST in the field.

THE SWIMMING POOL

The only thing needed now to make the children of Glendale 100 per cent happy and joyous is: For all good citizens to go to the polls on Tuesday, June 28, 1921, and vote in favor of "The Swimming Pool Proposition." All those who are willing to help bring a little happiness into the lives of our Glendale boys and girls, should promptly respond to this call.

MRS. C. B. GUITTARD,
524 Patterson Avenue.
A friend of every kiddie in Glendale.

NOTICE

Did you read the quarter-page ad in yesterday's Press? Dig it up and you will find how the Municipal League candidates stand on the exaggerated BLUE LAW agitation. All five have signed the statement.

Through an oversight the names of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Scovern were shown on the Better Council Campaign Committee. This was purely a clerical error which occurred in compiling out list. Mr. and Mrs. Scovern, to the best of our knowledge, are not members of any league or political organization.

COLORADO SHRUB SAID TO CONTAIN RUBBER

(By International News Service)

ALAMOSA, Colo., June 25.—San Luis valley residents are keenly interested in reports reaching here that crude rubber is contained in an indigenous shrub that grows quite promiscuously in this region, known as "rabbit brush."

E. C. McCarty, professor of botany at the Colorado Agricultural College, in Fort Collins, is expected here soon to gather several hundred pounds of the shrub to ship to Eastern rubber companies for further experimental purposes.

That the shrub has a large percentage of crude rubber has already been established, according to Professor McCarty, who says that, after extricating considerable of this material from the shrub, he sent it to a big rubber company for tests. Chemical analysis disclosed, according to Professor McCarty, that the rubber in the shrub was of a high grade and that it vulcanized readily.

Professor McCarthy declared in a letter to the local Chamber of Commerce that experiments will be continued at the Agricultural College to determine whether the rubber bearing shrubs can be transplanted and improved.

ADVENTURES OF A GOOD SAMARITAN TOLD TO CITY TRUSTEES

The board of trustees received the following communication from A. G. Hinckley which was read by the city clerk:

"To the Board of Trustees.—Sometime ago, a widow living on San Fernando road not far from Cypress avenue, appeared to be in distress; the trunk of a large pepper tree was lying prostrate on the sidewalk in front of her house and she stated that she had been required by the authorities to remove it, and that she was unable to do so,, and also unable to pay for. having it done, as the best offer she had was from a man who wanted $30 and up for moving the one piece constituting the main trunk.

"I told her that if I could have time enough I could get it away for her, but, like anyone else, it would require more than myself to handle it. I took up a fine Disston crosscut saw, but found no one willing to take the other end of it. So it lay there through the rains and rusted. I hired a machine saw to put it in blocks small enough to split or handle, so that I could take them away in my trailer, but he said that he broke his saw and quit before the job was completed, but took the check deposited for him just the same. And I have not seen him since I hired him.

"After that, I employed the strongest man in this country to help me remove them. We loaded one chunk, but he balked on the rest of it.

"I have a suggestion: You doubtless have an auto park or picnic ground where those pieces could furnish support for excellent rustic tables; and the little legend of their origin would entertain the visitors, and lend luster to your official act, and would seem much more magnanimous than any move which might multiply the misfortunes of a helpless woman, already sufficiently miserable.

"Mark this: I am not shirking from my original offer, to-wit, to remove the tree, if given my own time. I am too poor to employ large forces of men and machinery. But I am only 65 years old and confidently expect to live long enough to discharge all my obligations.

"And I further offer to you, that any time I can, I will join any body of men you see fit to organize to accomplish the suggestion above made, or any other you prefer, and will use an automobile to transport men and equipment to do the work. In fact, it should be made a holiday affair, like the good, old-fashioned log-rollings that were held in a friendly, helpful spirit, in the olden days when men were manly enough to be magnanimous."

Oppose Peck Nomination

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Senators Capper and Curtis, Republicans of Kansas, called on Secretary Weeks at the war department today and asked him to withdraw the nomination of Robert G. Peck for lieutenant colonel if upon investigation he found to be true the charges that Peck had disparaged the Kansas National Guard's participation in the world war. Weeks promised to give the senators' protest serious consideration.

High School Board Elects Teachers

At an afternoon session of the board of trustees of Glendale Union High school, changes to be made in grounds and school furnishings were discussed and agreed upon and the house committee was instructed to see that they were carried out.

Bids for fencing the athletic field were reported by Business Manager Oliver, but were so high that the expense was considered to be greater than the board could incur and action was postponed subject to obtaining figures on another kind of fencing.

Plans were made to lay out portions of the ground in volley and hand-ball courts so that a greater number of students may find outdoor recreation at the same time.

Mrs. George U. Moyse, who was granted a year's leave of absence in 1920, is expected to return, but has not yet signified whether she wishes to leave her work in Los Angeles to come back.

Members of the office force—Business Manager Irving Oliver, Miss Myrtle Pulliam and Miss Jane Snyder, were reelected as was also L. T. Rowley, attendance officer.

Miss Spier, who has been teaching in Redlands the past year, was elected to a position in the sewing department, and Miss Ella M. Hardy from a Riverside high school elected to a position in the English department.

Mr. Meeker, who has been doing choral work in Whittier high school, the past year on part time, will carry on choral work in Glendale High the coming year under a similar arrangement which will bring him to Glendale two days a week.

Miss Sheldon, whose home is at 401 Patterson avenue was engaged for music work. Her assignment in the department has not yet been made, but her employment will give opportunity for enlarging the scope of that department which the board has been anxious to do for several years. With Mr. Meeker's assistance considerable more choral work can be done than heretofore and Mrs. Gibson will have time to take up class work in piano.

The board acted favorably on the request of the Music section of the Tuesday Afternoon club for the use of the auditorium for its meetings whenever it could be turned over without interfering with school work.

As some of the members are going away for trips, no date was set for the next meeting of the board.

TEACHERS PLAN THEIR VACATIONS

While many of the teachers in the city schools are planning to spend the summer months at home, most of them living either in Glendale or Los Angeles, others have gone elsewhere for a vacation.

Miss Frances E. Jackson, Intermediate school, will take a two weeks' motor trip, which will include Yosemite valley, while Miss Clara Midcalf and Miss Edith Tyler have already taken homes for the summer in Santa Monica. Miss Susie Crump, Broadway school, plans to visit relatives in Ludington, Mich., and Miss Tennie Mathews, also of the Broadway school, will make a trip to Yosemite valley.

Several teachers whose homes are at a distance from Glendale, left the city as soon as school closed, among them are Miss Elsa Brenneman, who goes to Hennepin, Ill.; Miss Lillian Brandon, Colorado school, left for Oakland, Calif., and Miss Cymbel Taylor, Intermediate school, whose home is near Fort Worth, Tex.

RELATIVE TO LIGHTS ON WALNUT STREET

Relative the petition of resident owners on Walnut street between Magnolia and Los Feliz road for street lights, City Manager Watson last night reported to the city trustees:

"We are securing easements for the extension of pole lines on rear of property line of the lots on north side of Magnolia avenue and expect to have all necessary signatures within a few days. The pole line will then be extended along the rear line of these lots from Central avenue to the east side of Walnut street. Street lights will then be installed at the intersection of Walnut street and Magnolia avenue. The lamp at the intersection of Walnut street and Cypress street will be located so as to illuminate Walnut street as well as Cypress street."

The people of Alaska do not have a vote for President, being at the present time under a territorial form of government.
